

Staying Connected with Campus Services

In this month of giving thanks, please consider helping the Upper Valley Haven purchase turkeys for their Thanksgiving meal. Donation jars are located in McKenzie and the lower level of '53 Commons. Contact lisa.celone@dartmouth.edu if you want to help fill a senior citizen's wish list, and consider giving your time or financial support to the Granite United Way.

Recognizing Our Veterans

Today is Veterans Day, a day to remember and thank those who have served our country and served us by putting country first. Take a moment to view the slide-show of Dartmouth staff, students, and family members who have served. You'll recognize Campus Services employees from FO&M, Dartmouth Dining, Dartmouth Print & Mail Services, Real Estate and more.

On a personal note, this marks the 31st year of my father's burial at Arlington National Cemetery. He retired as a Coast Coast Commander, having served during the Vietnam war. I'm proud of his accomplishments and grateful for the various places we lived and the amazing military community that continues to support us.

To all those who have served, today we honor and celebrate YOU!

Demonstrate Kindness

On Saturday, Nov. 13, World Kindness Day offers an opportunity to show that we can all bring the power of kindness into our everyday lives and serve as role models to those around us. How will you celebrate the day?

Staff Kudos

To Shelley Wirasnik [Tuck's facilities manager] and the Tuck Custodial Services team

Hi Shelley - now that fall conference season is over, I just want to thank you and your team for all of your help. It's great to be able to host on-campus events again, and your team makes it as easy as possible. I really appreciate the flexibility and patience you all display; it makes my job much easier. I truly couldn't do it without you!

Thanks again!

Betsy [Winslow]

Exec. Dir. for Co-curricular Learning

This note was sent to Sandra Sowle and Asia Flad, Custodial Services Manager and Supervisor, respectively.

I want to let you know about Paul Brunetto's actions earlier this week that were important to the safety of the Dartmouth community. On Tuesday morning, Paul noticed that a sizeable piece of stonework from the façade of Webster Hall had fallen off the building. We notified FO&M who discovered additional cracks. The situation was dangerous enough that the building had to be closed while scaffolding was erected to protect people entering and exiting the building.

Had Paul not noticed the problem and reported it in a timely way, someone could have been seriously injured or even killed. We are all indebted to him.

Jay Satterfield

Special Collections Librarian

In the Nov. 10 edition of The Dartmouth, undergraduate student Connor Allen sat down to interview "famed" Courtyard Cafe Worker Souleymane Marzouk, "the beloved Courtyard Cafe worker who has gained campus fame for his bubbly personality." Read about Souleymane's impressions of working during COVID and handling the long lines at Courtyard.

Thanks for providing such fantastic service, Souleymane!
