Hinman Mail and Transportation Services partner to prepare for Fall Term 2023

Hinman's move from the Hopkins Center to the lower level of the Class of 1953 Commons required creativity and collaboration to find a spot for the six, 8 x 20 foot containers that are required for incoming packages from August 16th to September 25th.

Devin Godfrey, Manager of the Hinman Mail Center, Bulk Mail and Digital Production at Dartmouth Printing and Mailing Services and Patrick O'Neil, Director of Transportation Services have partnered to prepare for the placement of storage containers in the Mass Row parking lot.

Devin and Patrick worked together to determine the ideal spot for the containers to assure pedestrian and vehicle traffic would still flow safely through Mass Lot. Once the spot was determined, collaboration and cooperation had to be established with all of the carriers, FedEx, UPS, DHL and USPS. Hinman's long term partnership with these carriers made this an effortless conversation.

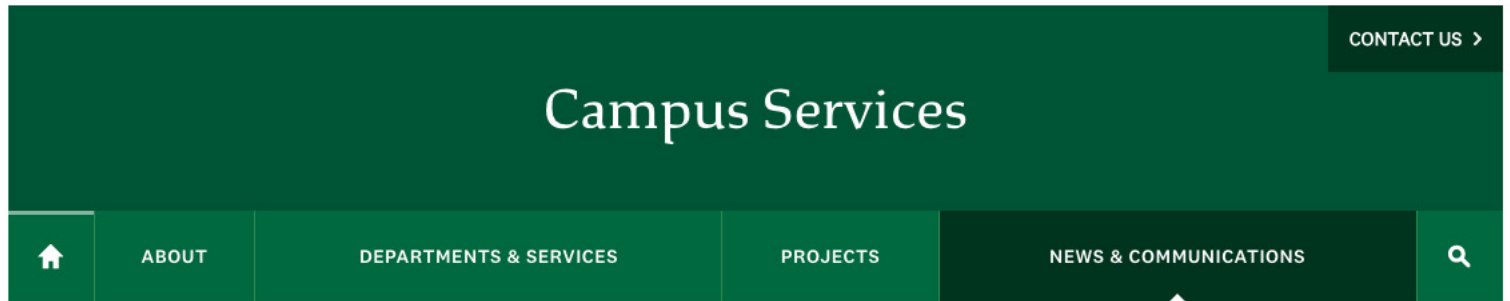

The package tracking software used by the Hinman Mail Center sends the student an email that specifically tells them where their package or packages are located. A portable workstation is set up in one of the containers which allows staff to scan packages from the carrier into the appropriate storage unit. During the beginning of the Fall term the Hinman team processes 1800 packages daily.

The Hinman mail team has extended hours through the month of September to ensure that first time and returning students have a positive Fall experience.

“Septubre” National Hispanic Heritage Month

Latinx and Caribbean Heritage Celebration is a time to celebrate, recognize and acknowledge the history, culture and ongoing contributions of the students, staff and faculty that identify as Latinx and Caribbean.

Though the celebration of Hispanic, Latino/a/x/e* and Caribbean heritage in tandem is not confined to a month, September 15th to October 15th is nationally (in the U.S.) recognized as National Hispanic Heritage Month. This period of time is referred to as "Septubre", an acknowledgment of both the ending half of September and the beginning portion of October in which there are celebrations coordinated to honor and educate communities on the importance of the rich, vibrant, and influential culture of Hispanic, Latinx, and Caribbean nations and their people. The significance of September 15th and 16th, in regard to National Hispanic Heritage Month, is to commemorate and celebrate the independence of various Latin American countries.

*OPAL Note: The evolution of language helps us describe and acknowledge individual and sociocultural changes. OPAL uses the term Latinx to be inclusive of multiple identities

“I just wanted to pass along the before and after pictures of the Courtyard Cafe floor refinishing project at the Hop that took place this summer to recognize the team on the monitors. The staff that worked on this were, Buckley Lawrence, John Cardi, Wyatt Giguere and James McCormick

Several years of old floor finish were removed to bring the floor back to its former glory!”

Asia Flad, Custodial Services

Daniel Vazquez

This is a quote from one of the building occupants for Daniel. “I’m writing to let you know that Daniel Vazquez has done an excellent job cleaning our office this week. We asked to have the office vacuumed, and found that Mr. Vazquez had gone above and beyond our expectations, as he also cleaned all the desks, the shelves, and the kitchen appliances. I spoke to him this afternoon and thanked him. His professionalism and conscientious approach to his work are truly admirable.” Sarah Katzenell

Stanley Young Jr.

I have attached a couple photos from some of the floor work he has done at Wilder. “The floors were dull and in need of lots of work. Stan has put a lot of work into Wilder and it is showing.”

Josh Thomasson, Custodial Services
